THE UTILITY TRACTOR
REDEFINED. RETHOUGHT.
RELENTLESS.

The 4700 Series is the culmination of the biggest R&D project in Massey Ferguson history. Rethought and engineered from the ground up, then tested around the world. We have created a utility tractor that's as stout and heavy-duty as it is versatile. You'll feel the power with greater lift capacity and the ability to pull heavier implements. Yet it's nimble enough to maneuver through any operation. Hay, Dairy, Livestock, Municipal duty. It's ideal. Before you buy another tractor, come see the 4700 Series and decide for yourself.

Ultimate Small Bale Packaging System

www.marcrestmfg.com

Small square bales are one of the highest demanded form of bales used across North America. Unfortunately, they are also the most expensive to produce. Until now. The Bale Baron by Marcrest Manufacturing takes regular 14 and 16 inch bales and packages them into time saving bundles of ease. Our Bale Packs are designed to stack efficiently into van trailers, are tightly bound using regular baling twine and are easily handled by loaders and forklifts.

"I HELP FARMERS GET FARM LOANS"

My name is Elizabeth Gnoinski, Mortgage Agent. My parents owned a dairy farm in Ontario. My brothers and sisters all helped out with the farm. My dad got sick, the bank refused to give us time to sort out our finances, and we lost our farm through no fault of our own. I will never forget that!

I grew up and had a hobby farm. It was a tough go with brutal cold and snowy winters and a short growing season.

I UNDERSTAND THE CHALLENGES YOU FACE!

I became a licenced mortgage agent with Expert Mortgage so that I could help farmers across Ontario.

I specialize in AGRICULTURAL LENDING. With over 400 private lenders to back me combined with my farming background, I work hard for you!

Rates from 2.05%
Amortization up to 35 years
on non-working farms!

Even if you have BAD CREDIT & NO PROOF OF INCOME, I can still help you. I do RESIDENTIAL, COMMERCIAL & CONSTRUCTION LOANS too!

I REPRESENT OVER 400 LENDERS

Many provide 1st, 2nd and 3rd mortgages even with:

- Horrible Credit
- Bankruptcy
- Unemployed
- Mortgage Arrears
- Property Tax Arrears
- Power of Sale
- Self-Employed
- Pension & Disability

IS BUYING A HOME IN THE WINTER A GOOD IDEA?

(NC) Consider this: It's a cold winter day and you've just sat down with a mortgage professional to figure out how much house you can afford. You've determined that your finances are in order and you're ready to start looking for a home. You've heard that spring is the best season for buying and selling real estate. Does that mean you'll need to put your search on hold until the tulips start to bloom?

"If you've worked out what you can afford and you're ready for the home buying process, then shopping for real estate can happen at any time of year," says Pat Verge, president of the Ontario Real Estate Association. "While spring and fall are busier times for real estate sales, a serious home buyer should be looking out for potential homes as long as they're ready to make a purchase. It can sometimes take many months to find the right property."

If you are planning to shop for real estate during the winter, these are a few things to bear in mind:

Supply: There may be fewer homes to choose from, but of the homes available for sale you may have less competition to deal with when making an offer.

Weather: The homes you visit may already be covered with snow which may hide exterior defects; ask to see photographs of the home taken earlier in the year and rely on a home inspector to tell you about any potential faults.

Make time: The process for buying a home and the paperwork that follows is time consuming. Try to keep your other priorities organized so that you are ready to act if a home that you are interested in comes up.

"If you're eager to get ahead of the busy spring market, talk to your Realtor about looking into homes that aren't yet listed but that are being prepared for sale," says Verge.

MANAGE YOUR FARM LIKE NEVER BEFORE

Crop and field record management has come a long way in recent years, according to Marko Maksymytz, owner of Zemac Farms in Taber, Alberta.

“In the old days, everything was done on a piece of paper and everything had to be faxed,” Marko says.

The manual recording process Marko describes is rapidly being replaced with just-in-time, precise electronic data collection for all aspects of the farm. Marko says that software like Farm Credit Canada’s Field Manager PRO is helping producers up their game when it comes to tracking information.

With Field Manager PRO software, and the FM PRO Mobile app for your Apple or Android device, you can make sure your operation is operating as efficiently as possible – wherever you are.

KEEP TRACK OF ALL YOUR FIELD AND CROP DETAILS

Manage your suppliers, equipment and labour lists as well as track your sales, purchases and much more.

MANAGE YOUR FARM FROM ANYWHERE

Download FM PRO Mobile from the App Store in iTunes or the Google Play Store, and create and share all your field records from your iPhone, iPad and Android devices. Sync with Field Manager PRO or Field Manager PRO 360 on your desktop computer and update your records from anywhere, in real time.

PLANT YOUR CROPS BASED ON THE MOST PROFITABLE SCENARIO

By entering fixed and variable costs, and estimating your projected yield and commodity price, you can analyze different crop plans and run crop projections.

FIELD MANAGER PRO 360

Field Manager PRO 360 includes all the field and crop record management tools mentioned above and also provides aerial satellite images of your fields.

If you'd like to learn more about Field Manager PRO, or check out FCC's accounting software, AgExpert Analyst, call 1-800-667-7893 or visit www.fccsoftware.ca.

IT'S V10...DO YOU KNOW WHERE YOUR NITROGEN IS?

Margins are tight. To maximize profit, you need to better monitor and manage nutrients and plant health all season. 360 Yield Center gives you the tools that make that possible.

⊕ 360 SOILSCAN™ gives you in-field nitrate analysis and application plans in minutes. Test your soil any time and make the right decisions.

⊕ 360 Y-DROP™ extends your application window – so you can apply N from V6 all the way up to VT – so you can capture more yield potential.

⊕ 360 UNDERCOVER™ provides targeted, under-canopy application and puts fungicides, insecticides or nutrients right where they're needed.

WHAT IF YOU COULD MAKE YOUR NITROGEN GO FURTHER?

Corn uses almost 75% of its needed nitrogen after V10¹. A one-and-done approach to N management might leave your N tank empty with time left in the season.

Give your crop what it needs all season. Call or visit your local dealer for the 360 Yield Center tools that help you gain control for better-performing crops and better on-farm profits.

PROFIT MAPPING: DOES ZONE MANAGEMENT PAY?

Yield may be King but it's profit that pays the bills.

"We must stop thinking about bushels per acre and start thinking about dollars per acre," says agronomist Mike Wilson. After working with zone management with Thompson's Limited for 12 years he suggests that zone mapping can help the bottom line, encouraging farmers to combine their crop marketing skills with zone mapping-based decisions.

Wilson told farmers at a recent Innovative Farmers of Ontario marketing workshop in Guelph that first, they need a plan. What are we trying to achieve?

Economically, farmers need to figure out their cost of production, their marketing strategy, and they need to figure out a target selling price. Wilson can then make agronomic recommendations based on the economic goals of the farm.

Agronomically, can we cut our input investment in nutrients, seed or crop protection without sacrificing yield? Or maybe we can increase yield by increasing inputs? Maybe we should be investing in the soil? Do we want stewardship options to get the farm performing better in different ways? "To do it truly right, we have to do them all, at the same time, in every field," said Wilson.

Basically, if we continue to farm based on our farm average we'll continue to get average results.

With straight rate applications, there are parts of the field where we're matching removal to yields but we also have areas where we're over applying, potentially affecting the environment. "We need to stop that," said Wilson, "and keep that money in our pocket." On the flip side, where the yield is very high, we're mining the soil. We're not adequately fertilizing for sustainability. Can we push harder there?

Zone mapping is more than just printing off yield numbers from the combine. Yield is king – we have to use it. But the actual data from the corn combine may swing from zero to 300 bushels. Realistically the average is 149, but now we start looking at zones differently. "Profitability doesn't come from higher yield alone. That's just one piece of the puzzle."

The zone map begins with basic topography, with three to six years of normalized yield on top of it. Typically the tops of the knolls are poor and the low ground is in really good shape. When you start looking at the data there's always a story in the background. You may see where a fence line and a tree line have been removed, or areas that have been treated differently showing different fertility.

You'll see zone maps where yellow shows average yield, red areas perform poorly, and light green and dark green are the highest yielding areas. For white mold fungicide application, for example, he will suggest to only spray the green areas. That's it. He can also match fertilizer recommendations to yields in each zone.

There are some areas of the farm that swing drastically from year to year, maybe a wet spot that needs some tile, maybe a knoll that performs well in a wet year but burns up on a dry year where irrigation may be the best bet. Can we do those things? "Sometimes yes," said Wilson, "but not always realistically. So we begin to manage them differently, stop wasting our money if the yield potential is not there."

Once you have that variability measured you need to figure out what's causing it, starting with soil sampling. Where can we make a difference? Where we can save and where do we need to spend?

Sometimes it's just about investing in the future. From nearly 9,000 soil samples that Wilson sees go through Thompson's every year, he has noted that the trend of phosphorous and potassium levels dropping. We're not putting enough on to match removal rates. "We're not doing it right; we need to do a better job. We just came off five years of really good prices but the soil tests are showing that we've screwed up." When times are good we should have invested in the soil, not let it go backwards, so if we do get into two or three or four years of bad we can use that soil bank account to ride through.

We can increase our yield but we also have to maximize our input dollars where we can't increase yield. If it's a sand knoll, or a ridge, or an area that just can't produce more because of another limiting factor on the farm, then we need to manage that to the best of our ability and stop wasting our money there.

The bottom line is, does zone management pay? From his calculations, yes. When he compared variable rate treatment versus straight rate application he found a $23 per acre savings in nitrogen, inputs and seed costs. Focusing on the fertilizer, matching it to the soil test levels, can gain $8 per acre alone.

Where can we go with this? "Stop farming bushels per acre. We can't do that anymore," says Wilson. If nothing else, start collecting data today that you may need tomorrow. You will need at least three to five years of data to see trends and get full potential from new equipment.

"Profitability doesn't come from higher yields alone. We don't just make more bushels... we have to farm profit per acre and get as much out of every acre we can. A lot of technology is there; we're just not using it to our advantage."

CONFERENCE BRINGS NEWEST PRECISION AG SOLUTIONS TO FARMERS

How often do farmers have the opportunity to listen and ask questions of a large number of industry experts on the latest ag technology?

The answer is every year at the Precision Agriculture Conference and Agriculture Technology Showcase where the experts include leading agronomists, scientists, engineers, and analysts.

The theme for this year's conference is "Turning Precision Agriculture's Potential into Profits" and it will be valuable to any farmers or agronomists that are interested in using new technologies to help improve productivity and yields.

The third Annual Precision AgTech Conference will be held Feb. 2 and 3, 2016 at the Best Western Lamplighter Inn in London, Ontario.

"The attendees from the past two sold-out events rated the conference as excellent and this year's roster of speakers is the best ever," says Joe Dales, Farms.com executive vice-president.

THE 2016 PRECISION AGRICULTURE CONFERENCE SPEAKERS INCLUDE:

LISA PRASSACK of Prassack Advisors will examine how technology such as sensors, software, big data analytics and more will be developed and rolled out so that the tools make sense to individual farmers.

JASON WEBSTER of Beck's Hybrids will share results from research efforts including multi-hybrid corn and multi-variety soybean planting.

ROB SAIK, founder of Agri-Trend, will share the story of building Agri-Trend, and the exciting future now that Agri-Trend has joined Trimble Agriculture.

PAUL SCHRIMPF of Precision Ag Magazine will share his knowledge and perspectives on the precision agriculture industry.

J.P. GERVAIS, chief agriculture economist at Farm Credit Canada, believes farmers need to innovate to improve productivity and competitiveness in the global marketplace.

JACQUES NAULT of Logiag will be introducing a revolutionary new soil-testing technology called LaserAg.

STEPHANIE SMITH, agronomist from 360 Yield Center, is passionate about maximizing crop yield potential.

KEARNEY PLANTERS SPECIALIZES IN CUSTOM-BUILT PLANTERS AND CORN HEADS

What started in 1979 as a spark of insight into planter modification, now 36 years later has turned into the province's leading supporter for farmers "planting through harvest."

Kearney Planters is a name farmers have grown to trust. From as simple as a standard John Deere part, to as far as your imagination and budget can let you run, the staff at Kearney Planters ensures that parts and accessories, for whatever make or models, planter or corn head are available to you. Over 50 manufacturers are now being represented in our parts department.

"We service what we sell." With that being said, we have a full service department available. At your farm or our shop, we will be there to repair your planter or corn head and get you up and running when it's time to get your crop in the ground or off the field, come harvest.

In our shop we offer welding and fabrication services, sandblasting and painting and one of the largest selection of hydraulic crimp ends and adapters in the area. We can handle your repairs or modifications no matter how complex.

Our latest expansion at Kearney Planters has been in our technical department. As an Ag Leader dealer we have the ability to supply you with the latest and most accurate hardware and software. This support doesn't end at the point of sale, as we offer many winter educational opportunities to get you more comfortable with your software. Monitor unlocks and updates are always made available to the customer, and our technicians ensure that full on-farm service is just a phone call away.

Selling and modifying new and used Kinze planters and corn heads has become our specialties. We have been privileged to ship planters all across the globe. Our sales and service call-map stretches from the Windsor/Detroit boarder across Ontario to the Quebec boarder. As well, we have customers in Prince Edward Island, New Zealand, Romania and our latest global adventure will be shipped to France in February 2016.

With all of these options and support that we offer, make your next choice for a planter or corn head purchase, repair or modification, our team here at Kearney Planters.
